FIFTY-EIGHTH RUNNING OF KENTUCKY DERBY

ANOTHER DERBY DAY

Each Succeeding One Different and Full of New Thrills.

How Col. M. Lewis Clark Established the Famous Race and Col. Matt J. Winn Popularized It.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—The dawn — and Kentucky Derby day. It never has, and probably never will be just another Derby, when it happens to be the Kentucky Derby. From its inception in 1875 the Kentucky Derby has held an important and prominent place in American racing. True, in the early days the value to the winner was modest, almost meager, nevertheless, generally the best horses of each year were found among its contestants. Beginning in 1915, when the peerless Regret enrolled her name as the only filly winner, the Derby grew in popularity, and became more valuable, until in 1922 the monetary reward to the winner passed the $50,000 mark for the first time. Since then the net value has never fallen below that figure except in 1931, when Twenty Grand's share amounted to $48,725. The largest net value was when Reigh Count won in 1928, $55,375.

COL. M. J. WINN.

Two Kentucky colonels, M. Lewis Clark and Matt J. Winn, probably did more to establish and popularize the Kentucky Derby than any of the other notable sportsmen connected in one way or another with the great race. Col. M. Lewis Clark was the founder of the Derby. In 1882 he visited Europe and carefully studied the manner in which the sport was conducted in England and France. On his return to Kentucky he organized the New Louisville Jockey Club, and the first meeting was held at Churchill Downs in 1875, with the Kentucky Derby as the feature attraction.

AMERICA'S RACING CLASSIC.

Col. Matt J. Winn is the man responsible for the modern version of the Derby. It was he who carried out Colonel Clark's idea of making the Kentucky Derby America's racing classic, not only creating a national, but international interest in this racing spectacle that annually attracts to this beautiful Kentucky city thousands and thousands from all parts of the United States, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and with occasional visitors from Europe and far away Australia.

Little did Colonel Clark dream that scenes he had witnessed in Europe of staid, self-contained Englishmen of all stations of life from king to costermonger gathering in hundreds of thousands to see the running of the world's famous Epsom Derby and similar vast throngs of Frenchmen assembled in the Bois-de-Boulogne to worship the winner of the Grand Prix of Paris would one day be depicted here in Kentucky at Churchill Downs.

It remained for Colonel Winn to bring about the realization of such a dream and how well he accomplished the popularizing of the Derby was strikingly demonstrated on the fifty-sixth running of the event in 1930 when Lord Derby, scion of English nobility, after one of whose ancestors the world's famous Epsom Derby was named, after which the Kentucky Derby was patterned, was among the colorful gathering and presented the beautiful gold trophy to Mr. Woodward, owner of Gallant Fox, the winner.

JUDGE CHARLES F. PRICE.

Another sportsman who long has been identified with Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby is judge Charles F. Price, who became secretary of the Louisville Jockey Club in 1892 and upon the death of Colonel Clark succeeded that sportsman as presiding judge. For the past thirty or more years he has been the presiding steward in Kentucky and at other major tracks.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—The Kentucky Derby, most intriguing of all American turf events and among the world's outstanding sports spectacles, will be run tomorrow at Churchill Downs, famous home of the great old fixture. The classic race of the new world for three-year-olds will have its fifty-eighth annual running with a popular sized field, making the contest over the long, stamina-testing route of one mile and one-quarter. With good weather hoped for, if not predicted, and a fast track in prospect, astute followers of Derby history and of the performances of the 1932 candidates unhesitatingly predict one of the most evenly fought races in recent years when the three-year-olds meet in the $50,000 added race. After the elimination of Top Flight and Burning Blaze, it was expected that the Derby field would be large and so it was not surprising that

OWNERS OF DERBY WINNERS

Major T. C. McDowell and Others Among Those Present for This Year's Race.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—Major Thomas C. McDowell, thirty years ago, won the Kentucky Derby with Alan-a-Dale and tomorrow he will be present to witness another Derby. The Lexingtonian, who is one of the few remaining horsemen of the old school, holds a Derby record in that Alan-a-Dale is the only winner to be sired by a winner of the Blue Ribbon event. Halma, sire of Alan-a-Dale, won the 1895 Derby in the silks of Byron McClelland and Alan-a-Dale was foaled at Major McDowell's Ashland stud.

Other owners of Derby winners that have signified their intentions of being present for the fifty-eighth Derby are C. E. Hamilton, whose Stone Street won in 1908, and J. B. Respass, whose Wintergreen won the classic the following year. H. C. Applegate, whose Old Rosebud won the 1914 Derby, is treasurer of Churchill Downs, while Tom P. Hayes, who bred and raced Donerail, the 1913 Derby winner, is training the Warm Stable horses quartered at Churchill Downs. C. E. Hamilton has a stable of horses here in charge of H. Wells, while J. B. Respass nominated Our Fancy for this year's classic. When Old Rosebud won the 1914 Derby he set a record for the mile and a quarter of 2:03 1/2, which was not surpassed until Twenty Grand reduced it to 2:01 1/2 last year. Donerail, paying $184.90 when he won from Ten Point and Gowell in 1913, was the longest priced winner in Kentucky Derby history.

Ever Growing List of Superb Creatures of Thoroughbred World on Kentucky's Honor Roll.

It is inevitable that the flight of time witnesses the growth of the roster of Kentucky Derby winners who were great horses. Recent years have seen the list grow longer and become further illuminated with the names of such brilliant warriors of the turf as the unfortunate Twenty Grand, Gallant Fox and the internationally famous Reigh Count.

These three great thoroughbreds of recent years join the illustrious winners whose names were Hindoo, Leonatus, Spokane, Riley, Halma, Ben Brush, Lieut. Gibson, Sir Huon, Old Rosebud, Regret, Omar Khayyam, Sir Barton, Exterminator, Zev and, it is said hesitatingly but with conviction, Morvich. Thoroughbreds all, and better still, great horses, every one deserving the appellation great, for they could and did do all things well, sprint, stay or race with success over the intermediate distances in which great horses and great sprinters meet almost on a level.

Bubbling Over could be added to the roll of honor. So could Black Gold and few would dispute their claim to inclusion in the select list; but one had a career meteoric but all too short, and the other was close to a great horse but somehow did not quite reach the standard set. Sentiment probably more than anything else would prompt admirers of Black Gold to include him in the list, a sentiment engendered because of his tragic end, but then has not the Derby always been a race which tragedy stalks, too vividly illustrated by the injury to Burning Blaze a few short days before the race and further emphasized by the defeat of the famous filly Top Flight after she had ruled the future book favorite from its opening to within seven days of Derby day.

HINDOO A STANDOUT.

Hindoo was one of the greatest of the great that won the Derby. He scored his victory as long ago as 1881, but even today his name is frequently mentioned by turf followers when they wish to emphasize the speed of some horse when they say: "He is a regular Hindoo."

Ben Brush, small but mighty, will never be forgotten for he was the sire of the great Broomstick, and the connecting link to the potent Bonnie Scotland, whose blood, flowing through his modern descendants, made the name of Whitney one to conjure with on the turf.

Leonatus, owned by Jack Chinn, romped to an easy victory in the ninth renewal of the Derby, and while the race set the seal on his greatness, he had already earned undying fame.

Old Rosebud, swaybacked but great, and just how great nobody will ever know, for he was never a sound horse, and came back from retirement twice to astonish the turf world by his deeds, achieved in a manner reserved only for the mighty.

Regret, the only one of her sex to ever win, Omar Khayyam, the only foreign-bred winner, Exterminator, or "Old Bones," as he was affectionately known, Zev, Reigh Count, Gallant Fox, Twenty Grand and then?

Nineteen hundred and thirty-two does not appear to be a year in which the roster of the great will be extended. Not unless Tick On, Stepenfetchit, Brother Joe, Burgoo King, Universe, Economic, Liberty Limited or other probable starter has been hiding his light under a bushel somewhat after the fashion of Exterminator.

It might be remembered that Gallant Fox was not the outstanding juvenile of his year, and neither was Twenty Grand, for prior to the running of the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes late in the fall, Equipoise had occupied the limelight as a two-year-old.

Turf history carries the name of Exterminator as one of the greatest geldings ever raced in America. Regret occupies her own niche among her sex and Hindoo, sired the

VISITORS FROM FAR AND NEAR AT THE DERBY

Swager Sherley, former congressman from Louisville and now a Washington attorney, arrived from the capitol this morning for the Derby.

Samuel A. Culbertson, president of Churchill Downs, will have Walter Denegre, of Washington, and Seth Sprague, of New York, as Derby visitors.

Leonard N. Nason, author of "Chevrons" and other books, arrived from Boston to be the guest of Fred R. Vaughn for the Derby. J. H. Louchheim and family arrived from Philadelphia to witness Economic carry his colors in the Derby.

State officials who will be here from Frankfort tomorrow are Bailey P. Wooton, attorney general; H. H. Denhardt, adjutant-general; J. Dan Talbott, state auditor; Miss Sara Mahan, secretary of state; James R. Dorman, state banking commissioner; Eugene Flowers, commissioner of agriculture; Elam Huddleston, state treasurer; James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction; John B. Lewis, chairman of the state tax commission, and H. H. Holeman, secretary to Governor Ruby Laffoon.

Among the Chicagoans here, are Judge James F. Fardy, R. J. Nash, P. A. Nash, Tom Nash, John Nash, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shanner.

Lieut. Governor Albert B. Chandler arrived from his home at Versailles this morning and will remain until after the running of the Derby.

Theodore E. Mueller, a member of the State Racing Commission, whose Pittsburger was one of the western choices for the 1931 Derby, has as his Derby guests at his Shady Brook Farm, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hall, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Andres and Miss Mary Reed, of Pittsburg.

Col. Charles Blakely and Mrs. Blakely, of Fort Bragg, N. C., arrived today and have as their guests for the Derby at the home of R. Baylor Hickman, Capt. Breckinridge Day and Mrs. Day and Captain and Mrs. W. Williamson of Fort Bragg. Mr. Hickman, father of Mrs. Blakely is a breeder of thoroughbreds and Mrs. Blakely's brother, Baylor Hickman has several horses in training.

The blue grass breeding section will be represented by Thomas A. Piatt, Thomas Carr Piatt, Tom B. Young, Jack Young, Fraser Lebus, Clarence Lebus, Rodes Estill, Gorham Brothers, W. S. Asbury, J. O. Railey, Edward Simms, Arthur B. Hancock, Phil T. Chinn and others.

Sanford C. "Pop" Lyne, who, despite his four score years, considers himself the youngest breeder of them all, motored down from his stud farm at Brannon Station for the Derby. Mr. Lyne, whose son Lucien Lyne is still riding winners on the continent, his last success being in Belgium, belongs to the old school of breeders, who well remembers Aristides, the little red horse.

"I have witnessed the running of many Derbys, but I believe this is the most open of them all. There have been few years that I have not seen one horse in my estimation that stood out, but the field for tomorrow's race appears to be a well matched one," was Mr. Lyne's answer as to his choice for the classic.

Among the distinguished guests arriving today was Governor Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky. Governor Laffoon came from Frankfort and was accompanied by relatives and friends. Tomorrow Kentucky's chief executive will present to the owner of the Derby winner the handsome and valuable cup, emblematic of Derby conquest.

Visitors arrived from New York today in their private cars and with parties of friends included George W. Olvaney and John W. Curry, Tammany leaders, and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, whose Top Flight, winter book favorite for the race, was withdrawn following her defeat in the Wood Memorial Stakes. Mrs. L. G. Kaufman of New York and the owner of Tick On, favorite for classic honors, came from the East with her party of guests in three special cars. Mrs. John Hay Whitney and her husband also reached the Derby city from the Whitney farm at Lexington, where they stopped off on the way from New York.

One of the largest of hundreds of Derby parties will be that of artist Fred O. Kleesattel of St. Louis. Mr. Kleesattel will have as his guests Otto Rugg, manager of the St. Louis Municipal Opera; H. Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, who maintains the Haylands breeding establishment in Fayette County, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. C. Van Winkle, and will have with her for the Derby Miss Mary West, who bred Universe, the winner of the Wood Memorial and which went amiss while training for his Derby engagement.

For the Derby the guests of Col. E. R. Bradley, who has reserved six club house boxes, will include his sister, Mrs. Bailey, and her daughter, Peggy; Allen Callum and Miss Mary Callum of Pittsburgh; Mrs. H. P. Gardner, daughter of Col. J. P. Sullivan of New Orleans; John Ewing, publisher and also of New Orleans; Mrs. Gussie Donahue and Franklin Hutton of New York; Watty Morton of Philadelphia, Mrs. Sharpe of Pittsburgh, among others.

Veteran Riders in Comeback, Ride Entry

"BUDDY" ENSOR.

EARL SANDE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—Coupled in the Kentucky Derby betting with Stepenfitchit and "Buddy" Ensor will be another "comeback"—a double "comeback"—in fact. Earl Sande, hero of three Kentucky Derbys, will be astride Over Time, another candidate from the barn of Mrs. J. H. Whitney. The veteran rider will be striving to break the long standing tie that has existed between himself and Isaac Murphy. They are the only two to ride three Kentucky Derby winners. Still another long standing wizard of the saddle hopes to figure prominently in the race. Mack Garner, who over a period of seventeen years has gained the reputation of being one of America's most capable performers, will ride Liberty Limited. Like Ensor, Fator, Walls and others—Sande excepted—Garner has never had the thrill of riding a Derby winner.

Kentucky Derby Reminiscences

Intimate Recollections of the Great Race, Horses, Riders, Trainers and Incidents in Connection With Its Running

The Kentucky Derby of 1879 marked the defeat of the brilliant race horse Falsetto, the greatest son of Enquirer. Previous to his start in the Churchill Downs classic, Falsetto had won his first race as a three-year-old, scoring in the Phoenix Hotel Stakes at Lexington on the occasion of his first appearance under colors, as he was not raced as a two-year-old. Lord Murphy beat Falsetto in the Derby by a narrow margin. Later Falsetto won the Clark Stakes and then was taken to Saratoga where in both the Travers and Kenner stakes he defeated the mighty Spendthrift. He was purchased by Pierre Lorillard and sent to England but never raced, for he broke down the following year. After being returned to this country Falsetto entered the stud and sired many notable horses, including The Picket, winner of the American Derby, and Sir Huon, winner of both the Kentucky and Latonia Derbys. Falsetto sired three Kentucky Derby winners: Chant, in 1894; His Eminence, in 1901, and Sir Huon, in 1906.

Jockeys who rode winners of the Derby, now prominent as trainers, include Vincent Powers, W. Knapp, Joe Notter, John Loftus and Roscoe Goose. It was in 1908 that Vincent Powers rode Wintergreen to victory; Goose was on Worth in 1912, Joe Notter on Regret in 1915, and John Loftus on George Smith in 1916.

One of Kentucky's most famous horses, the immortal Ten Broeck, which in the course of 1876 and 1877 furnished the racing world with the then almost unbelievable records of a mile in 1:39%, two miles in 3:27%, three miles in 5:26%, and four miles in 7:15%, was unplaced in the first running of the Kentucky Derby, won by Aristides.

It will be news to many that in addition to the auction pools sold when the first Derby was run in 1875, the pari-mutuel machines were given a successful tryout.

The Kentucky Derby has always been a popular race, and even in its early years attracted immense crowds. It was estimated that over 10,000 witnessed the first Derby, while in 1885, 20,000 crowded the grandstand, club house and overflowed in the field.

The first appearance of the tallyho at the Derby was in 1882, at the eighth running, when Col. M. Lewis Clark, president of the Louisville Jockey Club, rode to the track with a number of his guests.

At the Derby of 1883 Colonel Clark, with characteristic generosity, threw the inner field open to the public, and 5,000 men, women and children, white and black, thronged there to see Leonatus carry off the great race.

Man o' War did not start in the Kentucky Derby, but his son, Clyde Van Dusen, won the race in 1929.

The gray colt Enlister ran a wonderful race in the first Derby, though the racing guides tell no story of his brilliant performance. He was one of those starting in the rear division and, after meeting with much hard luck, finished lapped on the three placed horses.

In recent years as many as 150 airplanes, carrying nearly 500 passengers, have added a new and novel means of transportation to the big race.

One of the best Derby fields of modern times was that of 1928, considered on a basis of what Reigh Count, Misstep, Toro, Sun Beau, Distraction, Petee-Wrack and Sortie accomplished throughout their racing careers.

Prudery, which died in 1930, was the last filly to finish in the money in the Derby. She started in 1921, the year Behave Yourself won, and finished third.

Ornament was one of the best race horses of his day and generation, both as a two- and three-year-old. He was the natural winter book favorite for the Derby of 1897, and on the day of the race went to the post an even money choice. The race, however, was won by Typhoon II.

Omar Khayyam was the first and only imported thoroughbred to win the Derby. He defeat Ticket, Midway and other good ones in 1917.

Sir Barton was the only maiden to score a Kentucky Derby victory and likewise was the only horse to win both the Derby and Preakness until Gallant Fox duplicated the latter feat.

Only one Kentucky Derby winner has ever sired a winner of the event. Halma won in 1895 and seven years later his son Alan-ade followed in the footsteps of his daddy and enrolled his name on the honor roll.

distance was at one mile and a half, since then at one mile and a quarter. The record for the longer distance was held by Spokane, which won in 1889 in the fast time of 2:34 1-2.

Virgil and Falsetto are the only sires whose get won three Derbys. Virgil's trio were Vagrant in 1876, Hindoo in 1881 and Ben Ali in 1886. Falsetto's three winners were Chant in 1894, His Eminence in 1901 and Sir Huon in 1906.

The three-year-old racing career of Runnymede in 1882 was analogous to that of Blue Larkspur in 1929, both were beaten favorites in the Derby, but later both wiped out those defeats and became acknowledge champions.

The record for breeding Derby winners is held by the Woodburn Stud, of A. J. Alexander, and the Hamburg Stud, of J. E. Madden. Each had five winners. The Bashford Manor Stud, of G. J. Long, furnished three winners and H. P. Whitney, E. R. Bradley, Milton Young, James B. Haggin, D. Swigert and W. S. Kilmer two each.

The smallest price laid against a Derby winner was 1 to 3, both on Hindoo in 1881 and Agile in 1905.

In the 1928 Derby was the imported horse Strolling Player, which was purchased in England at a cost of $60,000, but he failed to be one of the contenders when the curcial test came.

Hindoo and Ben Brush, first in the Derby of 1881 and 1896, respectively, were the most successful of all Derby winners in the stud. Hindoo sired Hanover, while Ben Brush was the daddy of the immortal Broomstick, fame enough for both without mentioning others to their credit.

Isaac Murphy, probably the greatest colored rider of all times, won the Derby three times. His first victory was on Buchanan in 1884. Six years later, in 1890, he scored on Riley, and in the following year, 1891, was astride Kingman.

Earl Sande, premier rider of modern times, has a triple Derby score to his credit. He rode Zev to victory in 1923, Flying Ebony in 1925 and Gallant Fox in 1930.

Old timers still maintain that the Derby of 1889, in which Spokane defeated Proctor Knott, was the greatest race in the history of the event.

The wonderful gelding Exterminator only became a Derby possibility when Sun Briar went amiss preparing for the big race. Exterminator now ranks as one of the greatest of Derby winners.

Churchill Downs, home of the Derby, was named after the owners of the ground on which the course was built, John and Henry Churchill.

It was in 1904 that Charles F. Price resigned as manager and secretary of the new Louisville Jockey Club and was succeeded by Col. Matt J. Winn as manager and Lyman H. Davis as secretary.

Ten Broeck was not the only one of the great horses of the early days which was beaten in the Kentucky Derby, the marvelous Parole suffering defeat and finishing unplaced in the second running, won by Vagrant.

Billy Walker, the noted colored jockey, rode Baden Baden to victory in the Derby of 1877. He was given a purse by the management for being the best behaved jockey on the track. Walker rode Ten Broeck in all his races against time.

FIFTY-EIGHTH DERBY

always providing, of course, that weather conditions are favorable. Kentuckians called upon most of the time to stage this historic and important racing event for the benefit of some eastern owner (twelve of the last seventeen winners being invaders), go about final arrangements for the big spectacle as conscientiously as if the prize and honors already were assured for a home-bred and home-owned horse.

Nothing but an upset can bring old Kentucky victory, as the Blue Grass chances have narrowed down until they rest almost entirely on the withers of E. R. Bradley's colts, Brother Joe and Burgo King. Tick On, owned by Mrs. L. G. Kaufman of New York, and Stepenfitchit, owned by Mrs. Whitney, also of New York, are, as the tremendous financial backing they are assured indicates, conceded by many to have the better chances to account for premier honors.

Back of those two eastern colts the most interesting chapter of the classic running should develop with the Bradley pair fighting hard to garner some of the honors for Old Kentucky. The Bradley colts are expected to encounter stern opposition from Economic, another in the formidable eastern contingent; also Brandon Mint, owned by Robert W. Daniel, who, like the owner of Economic, resides in Philadelphia, and possibly Liberty Limited, the candidate of W. T. Waggoner & Sons, of Texas.

Adobe Post, owned by C. H. Knebelkamp of Louisville and Richard Morris of Chicago, is the "dark horse" of the field and while ranked a full-fledged Kentuckian, a victory for this Cherokee gelding would be pleasing to Kentuckians—next to a success for the Bradley entry.

Tick On will be ridden by Pete Walls, who will be trying to win his first Kentucky Derby. Lavelle "Buddy" Ensor, the 1932 turf "come-back," also will be aiming at his first win in the race and grimly determined to signalize his return to the saddle with that important achievement astride Stepenfitchit. Laverne Fator, too, will be after his initial triumph in the race, trusting to Burgo King for the important score.

The Derby also has its "mystery" horse, this honor going to Liberty Limited. Sent up to Churchill Downs after a long and somewhat secretive period of training at the New Orleans Fair Grounds, Liberty Limited's training at the Derby course has created all sorts of speculation as to his condition. Reports of lameness, of poor condition and of sulkiness have leaked out from time to time; one day Liberty Limited would be counted out of competition by the "railbirds" and the next day his price in the future books would be slashed as some glowing account of his form and condition leaked out.

His final workout yesterday left just as much doubt as ever. The cause, after showing brilliant speed over the deep, cuppy Downs track for five furlongs, the colt sulked. And no one—not even trainer John Schorr—was able to tell just how Liberty Limited would have looked at the end of the stiff mile and one-quarter workout contemplated.

Best Horses Among Fifty-Seven Derby Winners

From Aristides in 1875 to Twenty Grand in 1931, a span of fifty-seven years, some of America's greatest thoroughbred horses have won the famous Kentucky Derby. Likewise, some other notable exponents of speed and stamina have failed in the "blue riband" of the American turf. Under the caption of "Great Derby Winners" in this edition of Daily Racing Form is presented a brief resume of the outstanding horses which have carried off the famous race, which will be run today for the fifty-eighth time. It is an opportune time to reproduce the Derby races of these great horses while pondering over the probable winner of today's contest. Great as these horses are rated, not all of them were considered among the best of their age when Derby day arrived, but later proved that their success in Kentucky's famous race was not a fluke, achieving new fame and laurels in other important American stakes. For example, Sir Barton was a maiden when he won the Derby and later won the Preakness and other fixtures. Exterminator was little known when he carried off the Derby and later became America's greatest gelding and cup winner. Reigh Count was beaten several times as a two-year-old but was not only the champion three-year-old but best horse of 1928 when he won the Derby. So, while scanning over the Derby races of some of our greatest thoroughbreds, we may find a parallel case in connection with today's starters that may aid us in selecting the probable winner of the fifty-eighth running of the Kentucky Derby. Herewith are presented the Derby races of the outstanding horses which have enrolled their names on the list of its fifty-seven winners.

He ran the mile and a quarter in 2:06 1-4, which stood for ten years after that as the record for the race at that distance, the reduction from one mile and a half having been made in Ben Brush's year.  Breeder—Madden & Gooch, Kentucky.
 Two-year-old form—6 starts, 0 wins, 1 second, 0 thirds.

ZEV—1923.

It was indeed right and proper that the greatest money winner on the American turf, Zev, should be the victor of the forty-ninth running of one of America's most famous races. The Rancocas star came west with reputation sullied by his inglorious showing in the Preakness Stakes, but immediately made amends for that defeat by leading all the way in the Derby, to win by a length and a half. J. S. Cosden's Martingale was second and W. J. Salmon's Vigil third. The race was worth $53,600 to the winner, which was hidden by that superb horseman, Earl Sande, America's premier jockey.

A summary of the race follows:

 MARTINGALE—B. c, by Martinet—Lady Irma, by Sempronius ..... 2

MORVICH—1922.

Heralded far and wide as another Man o' War, the unbeaten colt Morvich, champion two-year-old of 1921, owned by Benjamin Block of New York, a newcomer on the turf, won the Derby of 1922, the richest in the history of the race. Morvich, however, was far from being another Man o' War and strange as it may seem the Derby was the only race he won in 1922.

A summary of the race follows:

MORVICH—Br. c, by Rynnmede—Hymir, by Dr. Leggo ..... 1

 Two-year-old form—11 starts, 11 wins, 0 seconds, 0 thirds.

REIGH COUNT—1928.

Running in the colors of Mrs. J. D. Hertz and coupled with Otto Lehmann's Reigh Olga, Reigh Count captured the fifty-fourth running in sensational fashion. The entry went to the post an outstanding favorite, with E. B. McLean's Toro second choice. Misstep, from the inside position, took the lead at the start and set a killing pace for a mile, considering the extremely heavy going. Reigh Count, however, under vigorous riding, displayed great courage and stamina and wrested the lead from the Le Mar representative entering the stretch and won by three lengths with speed in reserve.

A summary of the race follows:
 REIGH COUNT—Ch. c, by Sunreigh—Contessina, by Count Schomberg ..... 1
 MISSTEP—Ch. c, by Upset—St. Theresa, by Marathon ..... 2

 Winning owner—Mrs. J. D. Hertz.
 Breeder—W. S. Kilmer, New York.

GALLANT FOX—1930.

As a two-year-old Gallant Fox did not appear to be a world beater, but made an auspicious beginning as a three-year-old in winning the Wood Memorial Stakes and the Preakness. His performance in the latter stake, under Sande's guidance, was of such a character as to make him an outstanding choice for the Kentucky Derby, though a victory in both these stakes had been accomplished but once previously. The son of Sir Gallahad III. justified the public's confidence, however, for, after being in close quarters early in the race, Sande took him to the outside and, racing like a machine, he thundered down the stretch to win by two lengths with something in reserve.

A summary of the race follows:
 GALLANT FOX—B. c, by Sir Gallahad III.—Marguerite, by Celt ..... 1
 GALLANT KNIGHT—Br. c, by Bright Knight—Ethel Gray, by Hessian ..... 2
 NED O.—Ch. g, by Campfire—La Flambee, by Ajax ..... 3

Also ran—Gone Away, Crack Brigade, Longus, Uncle Luther, Tannery, Broadway Limited, Alcibiades, Kilkerry, Breezing Thru, Buckeye Poet, High Foot and Dick O'Hara.
 Favorite—Gallant Fox.
 Winning owner—Belair Stud Stable (Wm. Woodward).
 Breeder—Belair Stud, Maryland.

TWENTY GRAND—1931.

In winning the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes of 1930, Twenty Grand recorded the fastest mile ever credited to a two-year-old. He went down before the superior speed of Equipoise later, but that colt had been declared out of the Derby and little fear was held of any of the contestants but Mate, which had triumphed over him a week previous in the Preakness. The latter failed to offer any serious contention and Twenty Grand, much the best, romped home an easy winner, erasing one and two-fifths seconds from the track record.

A summary of the race follows:
 TWENTY GRAND—B. c, by St. Germans—Bonus, by All Gold ..... 1
 SWEEP ALL—B. c, by Sweep—Nettie Hastings, by Hastings ..... 2
 MATE—Ch. c, by Prince Pal—Killashandra, by Ambassador IV ..... 3
 Time, 2:01½.

Also ran—Spanish Play, Boys Howdy, Insko, Pittsburgh, The Mongol, Ladder, Anchors Aweigh, Surf Board and Prince D'Amour.
 Favorite—Greentree Stable entry (Twenty Grand, Anchors Aweigh, Surf Board).
 Winning owner—Greentree Stable (Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney).
 Breeder—Greentree Stable, Kentucky.
 Two-year-old form—8 starts, 4 wins, 2 seconds, 1 third.

DERBY BETTING VAGARIES

History Repeats Itself in Case of Whitney's Ante-2Post Favorites.

Top Flight Follows the Way of Equipoise—Review of Fluctuation of "Future Book" Odds on This Year's Derby.

By the same decree of fate which eliminated the possibility of one Whitney filly repeating the victory of another in the Kentucky Derby a repetition of history was recorded in the failure of another Whitney future book favorite to get to the post in the classic. It was just a week before the running of the 1931 Derby that Equipoise, defeated favorite in the Preakness, was declared out. There was not necessarily a parallel in the causes which affected Equipoise and Top Flight as Equipoise developed an ailment which retired him for the remainder of the season while no question developed as to Top Flight's soundness, although she was beaten decisively in her first start.

Irrespective of causes the circumstances of the late eliminations of Top Flight and of Equipoise before her, were two more chapters in the trend of events which in recent years seems to ordain that the best of the three-year-olds carrying the colors of Cornelius V. Whitney, carrying on for his father, cannot get into the Derby. In 1929, after Boojum and Whichone had finished one-two in the Hopeful Stakes, it was thought that 1930 would be a Whitney Derby year, but both were out of training when the 1930 Derby was run.

The circumstances as to the betting favoritism of the Whitney stars were practically the same in the cases of Equipoise and Top Flight. So great was Top Flight's success in 1931 that she was an early favorite in the 1932 futures, even against the tradition that "fillies don't win the Derby," the feat having been accomplished by only one, the Whitney-owned Regret.

ONE-TWO FAVORITES.

Top Flight and Tick On last fall finished one-two, close together, in the Pimlico Futurity, their last start of 1932, and that is how they stood in the Derby betting until last week, when a series of the most sensational events that have preceded a Derby in recent years occurred, closely related events which put out two of the three choices entirely, the two being the leading representatives of the rival eastern and western factions. Burning Blaze was the westerner.

When Tom Shaw, the bell cow of the bookmakers, posted his first Derby odds simultaneously with the publication of the nominations, he made Top Flight and Tick On equal choices at 8 to 1, quoted Burning Blaze and Burgoo King at 20 and Sweeping Light, Economic and Lucky Tom at 25. Lucky Tom was the only one of the candidates of any standing which was kept in racing through the winter and engaged in the winter derbies. He won two of the three in which he started, but did not better his position as a bidder for the real Derby and went up in the betting.

Shaw's first 30 to 1 shots were Faireno, Indian Runner and Universe. Indian Runner was the first of these to get under way this year and his defeats eliminated him from consideration. On Post, stablemate of Tick On, and Big Beau were 40 to 1 in Shaw's early book. For a time it looked as though On Post would develop into one of the favored candidates, but he did not make the progress expected of him in his training and Max Hirsch made this known in time to prevent a heavy play on him.

War Plane, Larranaga, Morfair and Barcelona Pete were Shaw's first 50-1 shots, and the first group he offered at 60 was composed of Bertjohn, Curacao, Microphone and Mad Frump, the latter a stablemate and possible running mate of Top Flight. Shaw quoted 100 to 1 against Gallant Sir, Portden, Delivered, Cabezo, Sekhmet, Proteus, Brother Joe, Snap Back, Pro Bono, Semaphore, Scotch Gold, Cold Check, Towee, Air Pilot, Black Board, Minton, Liberty Limited, Border Warrant, Clotho, Stepenfitchit and Over Time.

REVISION OF BOOK.

Less than a month after the foregoing prices were issued, Shaw revised his book, making Top Flight, 7-1; Tick On, 8-1; Burning Blaze, 15-1. He quoted 25-1 against Sweeping Light and Indian Runner and 30-1 against Burgoo King, Universe, Faireno, Economic and Big Beau. By this time Brother Joe had dropped to 40-1 and was held on a par with Morfair, On Post and War Plane. Liberty Limited had dropped only to 50-1, Lucky Tom had gone up to 50, and Cold Check, Cathop and Stepenfitchit were as good as 60.

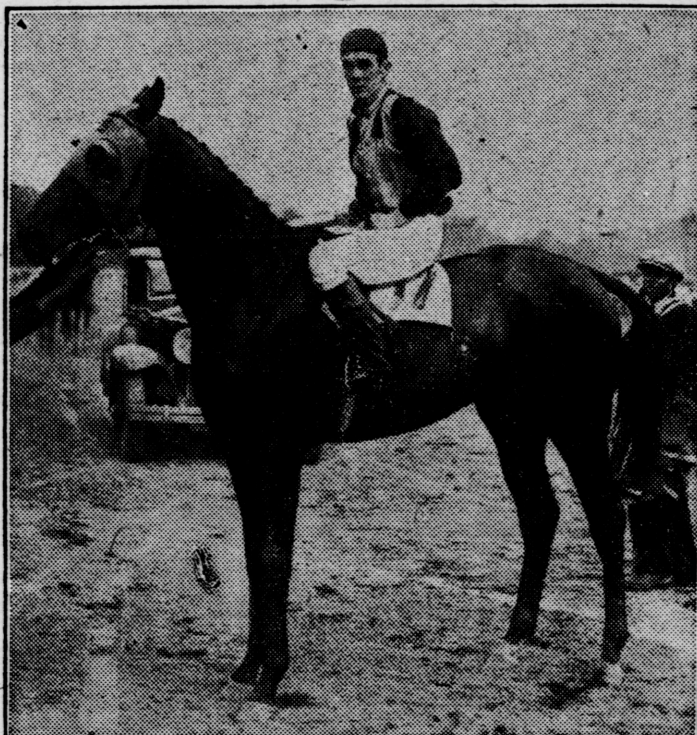

The first April quotations showed Top Flight still another point off, dropping to 6-1, Tick On to 7-1, the place and show prices on each being 3-1 and 2-1. It was reported about this time that owner C. V. Whitney had made a good bet on Top Flight, receiving 8 to 1. Burning Blaze was cut from 15-1 to 12-1. A few days later Shaw sliced Top Flight to 5-1, Tick On remaining at 7. Burning Blaze was cut to 10, Liberty Limited to 12, Brother Joe to 20 and Gallant Sir dropped to 60.

On April 15 Top Flight was still 5-1 in Shaw's book, but had dropped to 4-1 with Kearney. Both offered 7-1 against Tick On. Burning Blaze was 10-1 in one book and 8-1 in another. There was now only a couple of points between Burning Blaze and Liberty Limited for third place. Burgoo King, Sweeping Light and War Plane were cut slightly.

Tom Kearney's Kentucky Derby-Preakness doubles quotations held some interest for players who like speculation of this kind. He offered 15-1 against Top Flight winning both, 20-1 against Tick On winning both, 40-1 for Burning Blaze or Liberty Limited. He offered 20-1 against the combination of Top Flight in the Derby and Tick On in the Preakness, 25-1 against their winning in reverse order.

The next noticeable cut in the futures was on Gallant Sir, a son of Sir Gallahad III, owned by the Northway Stable. There must have been a good play on him, for his price dropped from 60-1 to 20-1 and in one book as low as 15-1. It was reported that the owners had invested $200 across the board at 60, 20 and 10.

Favorite for Kentucky Derby

The elimination of choices through mishap continued almost to the very eve of the Derby. On Wednesday preceding the race Universe, whose stock had soared since the New York race, wrenched the coffin joint of his left foreleg in a workout over the Derby distance and showed so little improvement the next day that it was decided to keep him out of the race.

It seemed that only Tick On and the Bradley entry, among the most highly regarded, were to hold their own right on up to post time and, while the odds against these were tightened, there naturally developed more interest in some of the other candidates which were now considered to have a chance.

The future books no doubt profited extensively by the withdrawal of three of the most prominent eligibles at a late hour, and if this had been a normal year in Derby speculation the elimination of Burning Blaze, Top Flight and Universe would probably have meant more profits than the future book operators have realized in many years.

The first of the three choices to start was Tick On, and his defeat by Springsteel initiated the series of "casualties" which was to culminate a few days later in the incidents in New York and Kentucky, which eliminated Tick On's two rivals entirely and made him, even though defeated, the outstanding first choice.

There really was no disgrace attached to Tick On's failure, disappointing as it was to those at Havre de Grace who backed him into odds-on favoritism. The event was the Shenandoah Purse, at a mile and seventy yards. Tick On was shuffled back going to the first turn, and after that was in trouble repeatedly. He had to go to the outside of the field and then finished well, beaten a length.

On the day this race was run, April 27, Shaw was holding Top Flight at 4 to 1, Tick On at 5 to 1, and Burning Blaze at 5 to 1. After the Shenandoah the eastern bookmaker cut Top Flight to 3 to 1 and made Tick On and Burning Blaze equal second choices at 6 to 1.

APRIL 30 TRAGIC DAY.

The following Saturday, April 30, was the most eventful and the most tragic of all preceding the Derby, for it was the day Top Flight failed in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica and Burning Blaze, though the winner of his race with a few Derby long shot eligibles at Churchill Downs, was cut down so that his withdrawal from the big event was made as soon as an examination of his injury could be made. Top Flight's withdrawal was decided upon the day after her poor showing.

There had not been a drastic cut in the price against Springsteel after his victory over Tick On, but the Wood Memorial, the Top Flight race, brought a new contender into the picture. Universe, winner of the Wood, was cut from 30-1 to 6-1, bringing him up to equal terms in the betting with Liberty Limited. Universe, a son of Infinite, owned by T. M. Cassidy, had shown a most impressive performance. Carrying 120 pounds, he led throughout the mile and seventy yards and, after disposing of Economic, one that had been looked upon with increasing favor, increased his margin as the end was reached. Universe had never been without a certain following, but he was retired so early in his first season that the rank and file of racing fans had perhaps forgotten that he had shown a good deal of class in some of the early juvenile stakes of 1931.

There had been other passing events which redounded to the credit of another pair of easterners, Stepenfitchit and Over Time. Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Stepenfitchit won his first '31 start on April 14, and on the same day that Top Flight was beaten at Jamaica, her contemporary, carrying the colors of another branch of the Whitney family, finished a close second to the sterling filly, Evening, in the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace, with Over Time third and Springsteel, Mad Frump and still other Derby eligibles in the beaten field. On the strength of this showing Stepenfitchit's price dropped to 10-1 and Over Time's to 15. Brother Joe and Burgoo King, the E. R. Bradley pair, were also cut to practically the same odds at about this time, not so much because of any brilliant accomplishments in racing as the result of strengthened confidence in them because of their satisfactory training.

DERBY TIMES SINCE 1900

Interesting Exhibit Covering Last Thirty-One Runnings of Kentucky's Famous Race.

To the marvelous Twenty Grand belongs the honor of running the fastest Kentucky Derby on record. When the Greentree Stable's champion carried off the coveted race in 1931, he ran the mile and a quarter in 2:01 1/2, thus surpassing the long standing record of 2:03 3/4 made by the illustrious Old Rosebud in 1914. In connection with Twenty Grand's new Derby record a glance at the fractions of that race in comparison to those of other years reveals the wonderful speed maintained by the son of St. Germans throughout the trying mile and a quarter.

Herewith is presented an interesting exhibit covering the last thirty-one runnings of the Derby and the times made each year:

Table with columns: Year, Winner, 1/4, 1/2, 3/4, 1m, 1 1/4, Tr. It lists race times for various years from 1901 to 1931, including winners like Twenty Grand, Gallant Fox, and Greentree Stable entry.

From Aristides in 1875 to Twenty Grand in 1931 the Kentucky Derby history covers fifty-seven years replete with the accomplishments of the finest sportsmen in the land, the great deeds of noble specimens of the aristocratic thoroughbred, the daring and skill of trainers and jockeys, all interwoven with romance and love for a great sport conducted by American gentlemen with all the pomp and ceremony to which such a great spectacle is entitled.

Now another Derby Day is at hand and once more thousands and thousands of racing devotees are gathered in this hospitable Kentucky community to cheer the fifty-eighth winner of the Kentucky Derby, America's racing classic.

Only three owners have the honor of winning the Derby twice, namely the late H. P. Whitney, E. R. Bradley and G. J. Long. The Whitney winners were Regret in 1915 and Whiskery in 1927. Colonel Bradley scored in 1921 with Behave Yourself and in 1926 with Bubbling Over. On both occasions representatives of the Bradley stable carried off second money. Azra in 1892 and Sir Huon in 1906 carried the colors of G. J. Long.

The late James B. Haggin, at one time the owner of the largest and most successful breeding establishment in the world, won the Derby of 1886 with Ben Ali, with Patsy Duffy up.

Kentucky Derby Lore

Where Favorites Finished

Favorites have fared exceptionally well throughout the long and glorious history of the Kentucky Derby. Only ten times out of fifty-seven runnings have the favorites finished outside of the money. Twenty-nine have won the famous race, thirteen have finished second, and five third. During the last ten years seven favorites carried off the great prize, and three were unplaced. The following is a record of how the favorites, with the prices quoted against them, have finished each year since the Derby was established in 1875:

Table with columns: Year, Horse, Odds, Fin. It lists the finishing positions of favorite horses from 1875 to 1931, including Aristides, Vagrant, Leonard, Himyar, Lord Murphy, Kimball, Hindoo, Runnymede, Leonatus, Audrain, Joe Cotton, Ben Ali, Banburg, Melbourne Stable entry, Proctor Knott, Robespierre, Kingman, Azra, Chant, Halma, Ben Brush, Ornament, Lieber Karl, Manuel, Lieut. Gibson, Alard Schreck, Abe Frank, Early, Brancas, Agile, Sir Huon, Red Gauntlet, Sir Cleaves, Wintergreen, Donau, Governor Gray, Worth, Ten Point, Old Rosebud, Regret, H. P. Whitney entry, Ticket, War Cloud, J. W. McClelland entry, G. W. Loft entry, H. P. Whitney entry, Morvich, Whitney and Greentree entry, Black Gold, Quatrain, E. R. Bradley entry, H. P. Whitney entry, Hertz and Lehmann entry, E. R. Bradley entry, Gallant Fox, Greentree Stable entry.

Riley, winner of 1890, confounded the turf world when he defeated the highly regarded Robespierre, which the bookmakers thought "could not lose the Derby." Lose it he did and in very easy fashion, for Riley was a great horse.

Halma was a son of Hanover, the latter, as stated above, a son of Hindoo. Halma was a great horse and he holds a unique honor to this day, that of having sired Alana-Dale, a winner of the Derby after having won it himself. Halma, besides being great, was a beautiful horse. In appearance he was similar to Chilhowee, but his head gave more assurance of determination than the speedy Chilhowee's.

Omar Khayyam, winner of the 1917 Derby, was a bargain horse. He was purchased for Billings & Johnson for $1,500 and in the Derby defeated as formidable a horse as Cudgel. Omar Khayyam was bred in England by Sir John Johnson. After his Derby victory he raced to still greater fame, defeating the best in America in the rich stake races.

Zev was one of the greatest of American horses. For seven long years he was the world's greatest money winning horse until another great Kentucky Derby winner, Gallant Fox, exceeded his deeds and his winnings by making almost a clean sweep of the great three-year-old prizes of 1930.

How are we to measure the greatness of Reigh Count? It is a difficult task because this sensational son of Sunreigh, after conquering the American horses of all ages, went to England and there, after several heart-breaking defeats due to the unfamiliarity of his rider with English racing conditions and his own early difficulties in adjusting himself to rolling, grass-covered courses, finally found himself and added a new star to the American turf firmament by winning the Coronation Cup and finishing second in the Ascot Gold Cup. He would probably have won the last named race also had the same rider been in the saddle that piloted him to victory in the Coronation Cup.

The last great Kentucky Derby winner was Twenty Grand. That is to say, the last on record. Today he is in the stud because of an injured tendon. His possibilities were unlimited and his potentialities just as great.

Will 1932 see the list of greats grow? "Queen sabe," as the Mexicans say. Who knows?
